Day One

Promote the existence and welfare of the collegiate bands and to create a respect and appreciation for band activities and achievements among the listening public everywhere.

- Make arrangements to speak to local high school bands about continuing music in college. Create a video to show during the presentation.
- As a chapter, attend a musical performance at your school. Wear your letters!
- Host an honor band weekend or band festival for local high schools. This can be a great fundraiser also!
- Got some chalk? Chalk the sidewalks of campus to promote the next ensemble concert.
- Help a local Girl Scout troop earn their music badge. Invite them to be VIP guests at your next concert. Reserve them a block of seats.

Day Two

Honor outstanding members of the band through privilege of membership in the sisterhood, extended in recognition of musical achievement, demonstrated leadership, and an enthusiastic approach to band activities.

- Start a scholarship program to honor outstanding band members at your school.
- Extend personal invitations to band members for a game's night, informational meeting or sisterhood activity.
- Honor your chapter's biggest advocate with an honorary membership!
- Conduct a ritual workshop to remind everyone why it is a privilege to be selected to serve.
- Nominate someone for the Outstanding Service to Music award, the "for Greater Bands" Award or the Auxiliary Award. Find the details listed in your chapter operations handbook or online.

Day Three

Develop leadership through active participation with the band, and through it, to strengthen those traits of conduct, thought, and idealism which characterize the responsible membership.

- Honor members of your band or music department who have recently achieved a great accomplishment. Send them a letter of congratulations for their achievement from your chapter.
- Select a player of the day or player of the week! With the advice of your director, recognize the musician that has made positive contributions during rehearsals.
- Dress up for the day and wear your active pin. Take pride in the fact that every member of Tau Beta sigma is an outstanding leader.
- Recognize those people in your chapter who do outstanding work but are not in a leadership role. Thank them for their dedication!

Day Four

Encourage a close relationship between collegiate bands and promote a high average of attainment by the performance of good music and selection of worthwhile projects.

- Do a short presentation to your bands on the national intercollegiate band and encourage them to audition. Get the necessary recording equipment and set aside a day to assist in recording audition tapes.
- Organize a recital with another chapter.
- GO to a concert at another school or university. Consider a school that does not have Tau Beta Sigma. Try to talk to some of the band members after the concert about the sorority.
- Write a letter of encouragement to members of our colonies.
- Challenge another chapter to see who can be the most involved in district and national conventions and meetings!

Day Five

Promote a meaningful and worthwhile social experience for all engaged in collegiate band work, and to cooperate with other musical organizations and societies in every manner consistent with our mutual purposes and those of the institution at which chapters are located.

- Host a challenge day for all musical organizations at your school. Have various competitions and have a picnic at the end!
- If you know of a local high school that has low numbers in their band program, organize a group of musicians from around the music department and go play with their pep band at one of their basketball games.
- It's Founder's day! Have an all day cookout at the music building. Invite all band members to stop by and get some food! Send thank you cards to Wava!
- Set up chapter wide big and little sisters with Sigma Alpha Iota. Have them be secret sisters for a week. Have a party to reveal the bigs.
